CRITICAL INFORMATION...

- Pell grants are only available for your first Bachelor's degree. You are considered to hold a Bachelor's degree when you have completed the requirements for the degree, even if the degree has not officially been awarded by the institution. Due to federal regulations, Pell grants are only available for a maximum of the equivalent of 12 full-time semesters.
- Repeated Coursework: As of July 1, 2011, financial aid can pay for unlimited repeats of failed courses and for one repeat of a passed course. However, if a student is required to repeat an entire block of courses because he/she failed a course(s) in the block, financial aid cannot be paid for the repeated courses in the block. Ineligible repeated courses will be excluded from counting in the student's enrollment for financial aid purposes.
- If you use all your annual eligibility in loans and Pell Grant during the regular academic year (fall/spring), there may NOT be any summer financial aid available to you.
- Your required enrollment for Pell Grant eligibility is evaluated at the time of disbursement and reevaluated on the Census Date. If you have received your grant money and then never attend a class or drop below the required number of credits for your enrollment status before the Census Date, you will have to repay all or a portion of your Pell Grant.
- Full-time credits for financial aid and scholarship purposes are twelve (12) credits for undergraduate students (9 graduate credits for graduate students). An undergraduate student will be charged full-time fees by the University starting at ten (10) credits. Fees for summer session are charged by the credit hour.
