Our records indicate that you have left school, dropped to less than half-time enrollment (less than 6 credits for undergraduates or less than 5 credits for graduate students) or will be graduating this year.

Students who have received a Federal Direct Loan are required to complete exit counseling upon leaving Idaho State University or dropping to less than half-time enrollment (even for one semester).

The fastest and most efficient method of fulfilling the exit counseling requirement is online (using your US Department of Education FSA ID) at studentaid.gov.

If you do not have Web-access, computer labs are available at the Office of Financial Aid in Pocatello and at the ISU offices in Idaho Falls, Twin Falls and Meridian.

You are required to either complete the online exit counseling or complete and return the Rights and Responsibilities Summary Checklist document located at https://www.isu.edu/media/libraries/financial-aid/EXIT_CHECKLIST.pdf

If you complete the Checklist, please complete this form, attach the Checklist, and return to the Financial Aid Office using one of the address above.

The Exit Counseling Guide for Direct Loan Borrowers will help you better understand your options and can be found at https://studentaid.gov/sites/default/files/exit-counseling.pdf.

Your prompt attention to this request is appreciated. If you have already completed your loan exit counseling requirement, please accept our thanks and disregard this request.
