Overview

As a community, we will explore how to pursue transformative research ideas from initial question to implementation

Participants will meet weekly during the Spring 2026 semester. These sessions will include facilitated discussions, guest speakers, skill-building workshops, and collaborative feedback. Outside of these sessions, participants will be expected to complete readings, engage in reflective practice, and work on individual projects.

Objectives

- Cultivate mentorship, leadership and community of scholars
- Enhance productivity and quality of research and creative endeavors
- Foster interdisciplinary research collaborations.
- Provide opportunity for professional growth
- Increase scholarly dissemination and communication of research.
